

treated like a criminal for asking for decent working conditions

The Liberal Government's planned changes to industrial laws will make criminals of us all.

Whether you're a union official trying to visit your members on the job or a worker standing up for a mate, the proposed law changes will brand you a criminal.

These laws will take the body of Industrial Law to date and place it under the gamut of Corporation Law, removing the whole system of checks and balances that has operated in this country for over a century.

Its unAustralian!

Stop these changes while there's still a chance.
